

Don't forget, the library will be processing curbside orders this Saturday, December 5th. Below are some more new titles available for your reading enjoyment.

For you non-fiction afficianados:

Caste :the origins of our discontents by Isabel Wilkerson

Becoming Duchess Goldblatt

In the country of women :a memoir by Susan Straight

Untamed by Glennon Doyle

Roughhouse Friday :a memoir by Jaed Coffin, a Maine author. Reviewed on the library blog, <http://liclblog.long-island>.

And fiction:

Beneficence :a novel by Meredith Hall

Book of Lost Friends. by Lisa Wingate. This book is about the search for people, mostly black slaves, lost before the civil war.

Book of Lost Names by Kristen Harmel. This novel is about the search for people, mostly Jews, lost during the Holocaust.

Red Lotus, The. by Chris Bohjalian. A story about a cycling tour in current day Vietnam that turns ugly.

The book of two ways :a novel by Jodi Picoult

Luster by Raven Leilani

Impersonation by Heidi Pitlor

Friends and strangers by J Courtney Sullivan

The midnight library by Matt Haig.

Vigilance of Stars, The. by Patricia O'Donnell, set in Maine, mostly Portland, and reviewed on the library blog, <http://liclblog.long-island>.

And oh, so many more! To refresh your memory, or if you haven't tried curbside yet, here's how:

The library website ( library.long-island.lib.me.us ) has all the new titles listed, those acquired since early summer, under the recent acquisitions tab, that you can browse through to find just what interests you. There is also an electronic catalog to search if you know of other titles you might want. Then either fill out the curbside pickup request, or call the library Sat. morning between 9:30 and 10:30 to place an order. The volunteer on duty will get them ready and leave them on the porch for pickup between 10 and 11 . If you haven't picked them up by 11, we'll leave them in the book drop. It's not locked.

Curbside pickup request form: <https://forms.gle/>